The Henley Centre for Coaching

Henley
Business School

UNIVERSITY OF READING

The Henley Centre for Coaching is a research and coach training centre at Henley Business School. The Centre is recognised as a world leader for coach training and research, having trained over 2,500 coaches over the past decade. The Centre provides professional coach training with a Professional Certificate in Coaching and an MSc, which are delivered in the UK across Europe and in the Middle East and Africa. Henley's team is actively engaged in research, contributing to journals, books and best practice publications. Current research projects include neuroscience and coaching, coach identity and coach development, coaching competences, supervision and coaching ethics. The Centre also provides continuous professional development and supervision for coaches across the world. You can join the Henley Centre for Coaching and access our research, resources, supervision and bi-monthly webinars.

EMCC

European Mentoring &
Coaching Council

The EMCC exists to develop, promote and set the expectation of best practice in mentoring, coaching and supervision across Europe and beyond, for the benefit of society. EMCC International is a council made up of countries providing coaching and mentoring membership in affiliated countries. Direct membership is available globally where an affiliation does not exist. The EMCC was founded in 1992 by David Clutterbuck, David Megginson, Bob Garvey, Kim Langridge, Julie Hay, Eric Parsloe and Sir John Whitmore.

As of 2018, it has affiliations in 25 countries: Belgium, Cyprus, Croatia, Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Morocco, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Romania, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Serbia, Turkey, Ukraine and the United Kingdom. The EMCC provides course accreditation, alongside individual accreditation for coaches, mentors and supervisors.

emccouncil.org/eu/en/accreditation

Membership is open to everyone.

The European Coaching and Mentoring Research project involved a collaboration with over 50 academics and practitioners, and over 100 professional bodies across Europe.

Introduction

This report provides an overview of the Czech Republic results from The State of Play in European Coaching & Mentoring (2017) research project, and compares these with the results from Europe and the UK.

Research method

The aim of the research project was to extend beyond traditional institutional networks and the main European languages (English, French, German and Spanish), to provide a more inclusive research study, recognising the equal value of all European countries, languages and cultures, and of the different professional bodies and institutions.

The research questions were designed by the researchers in collaboration with the EMCC, and were adapted during the development phase. For each country, a research partner or team was identified and a National Research Lead was consulted on whether the survey should be translated, and which language(s) should be used. The National Research Leads led the translation process, which involved initial translation and an independent review.

The survey was launched on 1 March 2017 in 31 languages, ranging from English, Spanish, French and German, to Czech, Catalan and Serbian.

The survey was publicised through established coaching federations and management bodies, as well as online through social media interest groups. In total, approximately 100 organisations committed to sharing the research link with their members or to publishing details of the research on their website.

Participants took, on average, 25 minutes to complete the questionnaire.

The development of coaching in the Czech Republic

Coaching has stabilised itself during the last decade. Nevertheless, a few challenges have arisen. The number of coaches is much higher than it was ten years ago, while the market has broadened. More people are describing themselves as coaches, although many lack training and experience in the field.

Around ten years ago, many organisations established internal coaches with the notion that they would provide coaching through their managers and therefore reduce costs. Yet time has shown that external coaches are irreplaceable. Confidentiality, the length of real experience the coach has accrued and the lesser inclination that internal clients have to co-operate with internal coaches are key factors that may explain this. In some organisations, middle management are coached by internal coaches, with external coaches focusing on senior management.

The dividing line between coaching (especially life coaching) and other psychological interventions (psychotherapy, counselling) is a topic for discussion among psychologists, psychotherapists and coaches. The line remains blurred.

Coaching has found its place in different disciplines such as career counselling, education and labour office systems.

The three main coaching bodies in the Czech Republic are:

International Coach Federation Czech Republic
– 77 members (52 accredited)

ČAKO (Czech Association of Coaches)
– 49 members (26 accredited coaches)

European Mentoring and Coaching Council (EMCC) – 50 members (9 accredited),
3 organisational memberships

Some coaches are members of more than one body and many others (perhaps several thousands) are not members of any organisation.

Some of the hot topics for coaching in the Czech Republic are:

- Coaching as part of organisational culture, coaching as leadership style
- Coaching in sales
- Life-coaching and regulation (coaching versus psychotherapy)

There are a number of coaching training providers in the Czech Republic, such as Coaching Systems, Koučink Centrum, Koučink Akademie, QEDGroup, Systemický Institut (LLC), Institut pro Gestalt Koučink (Gestalt Essence), ČNP Consulting, and FBE Praha (LLC), among others.

The Masaryk Institute of Advanced Studies (a unit of the Czech Technical University in Prague) provides commercial training for future coaches. Some other universities offer coaching as an elective (such as Charles University, Department of Psychology). Several universities have student coaching clubs (voluntary student organisations).

Vývoj koučování v České republice

Koučování se za posledních deset let v českém prostředí značně stabilizovalo. I přesto se objevilo několik výzev s koučováním spojených. Je zde o značný počet více koučů než před deseti lety, trh s koučováním se rozšiřuje a je potřeba více lidí. To ale také přináší situaci, kdy se mnoho lidí nazývá kouči, aniž by se jim dostalo řádného výcviku nebo měli v této oblasti praxi.

Zhruba před deseti lety si mnohé společnosti ustanovily interní kouče s představou, že zajistí koučování prostřednictvím svých manažerů a také uspoří. Během času se ukázalo, že externí koučové jsou v jistém smyslu nezastupitelní. Jako klíčový faktor se ukazuje téma důvěry, dále počet reálně odkoučovaných hodin a tím i nižší zkušenost a ve výsledku často malý zájem interních klientů o spolupráci s interními kouči. V některých organizacích je střední management koučován interními kouči, zatímco top manažeři obvykle externími kouči, nebo kouči ze zahraničí.

Mezi odbornou veřejností je diskutována hranice mezi koučováním (zvláště „životním koučováním“) a jinými psychologickými intervencemi (psychoterapií, psychologickým poradenstvím).

S koučováním se lze setkat v řadě oborů a disciplín – například v rámci kariérního poradenství, vzdělávání nebo v systému podpory úřadů práce.

Největší organizace sdružující kouče v České republice jsou:

ČAKO (Česká asociace koučů) – 49 členů
(26 akreditovaných)

ICF CZ – 77 členů (52 akreditovaných)

EMCC – 50 členů (9 akreditovaných)
a 3 firemní členství

Někteří koučové jsou členy více než jedné organizace a další (možná několik tisíc) nejsou členy žádné organizace.

Některá z často diskutovaných témat v České republice zahrnují:

- Koučování jako součást organizační kultury, koučování jako styl vedení
- Koučování v oblasti prodeje
- Životní koučování a regulace (koučování versus psychoterapie).

Je zde řada organizací, které poskytují výcviky v koučování (Coaching systems, Koučink centrum, Koučink akademie, QED Group a.s., Systemický institut s.r.o., Institut pro Gestalt koučink, ČNP, FBE Praha s.r.o. a další).

Masarykův ústav vyšších studií (ČVUT) poskytuje komerční výcvik koučování. Některé univerzity nabízejí koučování jako nepovinný předmět (například Karlova univerzita, katedra psychologie). Několik univerzit má studentské kluby zaměřené na koučování.
